COUNSEL ON CALL DEBUTS NEW BLOG

Lawdable recognizes innovative approaches, discusses legal business solutions

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – There is a new forum for in-house and managing attorneys to discover and share information related to the issues they face on a daily basis, it was announced today.

Counsel On Call, a company created to help legal departments and law firms address workload issues in an economical, strategic and quality-driven manner, has launched Lawdable (www.lawdable.com). Through a “best practices” approach, the blog will provide commentary from experts in a wide range of areas, citing specific client examples of progressive and innovative (or “laudable”) initiatives that have helped legal departments become more efficient and economical without sacrificing quality.

“There has never been a greater need for in-house counsel and managing attorneys to plan strategically, and I believe we can facilitate some helpful insight and idea-sharing in this forum,” said Jane Allen, President & Founder of Counsel On Call and one of Lawdable’s authors. “We’ve discussed the creation of this blog for some time, but the launch turned out to be timely.”

Allen’s blog posts will concentrate on national issues and general commentary on the use of attorneys in a non-traditional manner. She will initially be joined by four other authors on Counsel On Call’s leadership team:

- Dennis McKinnie | Executive Director, Atlanta office | Issues affecting legal departments on a daily basis and how both new and tested approaches can offer solutions
- Candice Reed | Executive Director, Nashville office | Will write about litigation support and e-discovery, unique approaches and business solutions
- Richard Stout | Director, Litigation Support Division | Will detail best practices regarding technology implementation and efficiency training methods for teams of attorneys
- Katherine Erwin | Director of Candidate Development | Looks at work-life balance sought by attorneys and how that can be a win-win for the client and the attorney
- Lawdable will also feature Q&As with the leaders of some of the nation’s leading corporate legal departments

The group of authors has decades of experience practicing law, collectively, and each author speaks to leaders of corporate legal departments and managing attorneys across the country on a daily basis. This level of expertise offers the ability to retain and share knowledge that can only benefit other legal decision makers, from general counsels and litigation managers to law firm partners and division leaders.
